FILIPINOS WELCOME GOV. TAFT MANUA TAKES A HOLIDAY TO

CELEBRATE HIS RETURN. Children Sing a Hymn Dedicated to the Trip to Washington and Rome - Sale of thurch Lands to Government Assured. Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN MANUA, Aug. 22, The reception to Gov. Taft, who arrived here to-day, was nest affair in the history of the Philipnes. The residents of the islands say hat it was never approached by the Spanish celebrations. In its elaborateness of details, dignity, sincerity and spontaneous siasm it has never been excelled. The weather was porfect. The steamers the harbor sounded their whistles and rang their bells at a prearranged signal which announced that the Governor had arrived At down crowds gathered on the banks of the river and on the bay shore. At 7 o'clock 3.000 persons, including the Philippine Commissioners, Gens. Davis and Sanger, and the members of their personal staffs and nine bands embarked on thirtyfive decorated tugs which circled about Gov. Taft's yacht.

The Commissioners and the Reception Committee boarded the yacht and con-ducted the Governor ashore. The tugs followed in the procession. There was continuous cheering from all the vessels in the harbor which were decorated in honor of the occasion. The Governor landed opposite Fort Santiago and was saluted by 30,000 people, Including the entire Manila garrison, members of the Federal party, Chinese, Americans. Filipinos, members of the chambers of commerce, American and other clubs and schools and provincial [delegations. There was a procession of carriages that reached for a mile and a half. The streets sere lined with flags and there were eight triumphal arches under which Gov. Taft had to pass. Children standing on the sidewalks threw flowers as the Governor's carriage passed by and released doves. The Governor's carriage was halted frequently by the cheering crowds. At one point it was surrounded by eighty boys and girls who sang a hymn dedicated to Gov.

When the Governor reached the Palace tle chairman of the Reception Committee delivered an address of welcome. Senor Ferrera, in behalf of the city, followed with another welcoming speech.

Gov. Taft was apparently deeply moved by these demonstrations. In a speech in reply to the addresses, the Governor told in an interesting, straightforward way of his experiences at Washington and Rome. He said that the American Congress acted soiely in the legislation for the lands for the best interests of the people. He dec ared that the inhabitants should be congratulated on this legislation, which was in favor of the Filipinos and did not permit the exploitation of the islands. He went on to say that possibly some of the measures that appeared restrictive would be modified if it were found that they were detrimental to business. The Governor laid particular emphasis on the statement that the United States were moved by the kindliest and most generous feelings toward the Filipinos. This statement was greeted with great applause. He predicted practically a free trade basis. He urged his hearers to avoid useless political agitation and to turn their attention to agricul ture and manufactures. This sentiment was greeted with applause.

Gov. Taft told about the negotiations at Rome in regard to Church property and the friars. He said the business had not been completed, but the sale of the Church lands to the Government was assured The money would remain on the islands instead of going to the various orders of

After the reception at the Palace hundreds remained in the Marble room to shake hands with the Governor, who appeared to be in excellent health.

Ten thousand provincials, with local officials, who have been living on the lands owned by the friars and not paying rent therefor since the outbreak of the war came from Cavité, Laguna, Bulucan and Batuan in boats and wagons and special trains to take part in the parade and re ception to the Governor. They were particularly anxious to learn about the disposition of their farms, which were originally owned by the friars. They cheered the Governor's speech enthusiastically. The apparent cooperation and enthusiasm of the military authorities produced a splendid effect.

Gen. Chaffee, who has been on a tour of the southern islands and who, it has been stated, was returning to Manila to organize a campaign against the Moros of Mindanao arrived here while the procession in honor of Gov. Taft was passing through the town

BAD CHECK MAN AT GOOD CLUB

PAYS UP IN COURT TO UNION LEAGUER WHO PROSECUTED.

It Wasn't a General Swindling of Members Says H. B. Fry, the Victim, and Checks Didn't Pass at Canfield's Either -Got His Money and Let Up on R. E. T. Rowe.

Richard E. Thorndyke Rowe, calling nimself a promoter, who gave the Holland House as his temporary address, and Summit, N. J., as his home, was arrested at the Waldorf-Astoria on a warrant on Thursday night and was taken to York ville police court vesterday, charged with passing worthless checks on Horace B. Fry, president of the Great Eastern Mining Company and a well-known member of the Union League Club. Magistrate Mayo heard the case in his private room and as Mr. Fry said that Rowe had paid him about $200. the amount called for by the checks, he was ready to consent to the prisoner's discharge if the Magistrate would permit

Rowe was released. A story was sent to the newspapers last night to the effect that Mr. Fry had introduced Rowe at the Union League Club and that other members of the club had cashed checks for him, also that some of the checks changed hands in Richard Canfield's gambiing house.

"Those stories are not true," said Mr. Fry when seen by a Sun reporter at the club. "I was the only sufferer at the hands been made by primary election in Missis- of Mr. Rowe and I refused to prosecute him, as he has made good the $200 he obtained from me. He seemed to me a decent, intelligent man and I rather wish to attribute this escapade to something outside

"I was properly introduced to Mr. Rowe and thought enough of him to secure for him a fifteen-day membership in the Union League Club. I did introduce him to several of my friends here, but he did not abuse his privileges. I cashed three or four checks on the First National Bank of Chicago for him and when they proved no good, I went to court and got a warrant for his arrest. He paid me and I consented to his discharge.

"Did you understand," Mr. Fry was asked, "that a woman gave Rowe the money with which to make good the check?"

"There was no woman in court," answered Mr. Fry. "Mr. Rowe gave me the money. I wouldn't mention women in this case, if I were you. That is a nice woman "

"It is said that Rowe got money from other club members and laughed at them when he checks came back because they had Is that true, Mr. Fry?"

"It is absolutely untrue, Mr. Rowe got no money from other members nor did he go to gambling places with any one." Mr. Fry declared. "Personally, I can't gamble because I don't know anything about

He said he knew nothing about Rowe's business or family connections.

BEGGAR IN SILKS ARRESTED. Got a Marked Bill at Kithn, Loch & Co.'s-Her Tales of Wor Worth $100 a Week.

A woman who has managed, according to the Charity Organization Society's reports, to make an excellent living for several years by soliciting aid from prominent bankers and business men was arrested yesterday afternoon outside the doors of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.'s banking 27 Pine street. She is known both as Mrs. Jean Harris Hunter and Mrs. Alexander W. Hunter, and gave her address at 295 Livingston street, Brooklyn.

Extremely well dressed in black silk and wearing the most approved widow's weeds, Mrs. Hunter is reported by the society's agents to be the most aristocratic beggar that has ever come to their attention. The society has been investlgating her record for the last two years, and the reports show, and Mrs. Hunter admits their truth, that she has prosecuted her game in all the large cities between here and San Francisco.

Mrs. Hunter, according to the stories she uses for business purposes, is afflicted with a combination of misfortunes. Her father, 81 years old, has been a paralytic for years; her sister is a bedridden invalid; her son is an incurable consumptive who has been sent to Arizona to cure his ailment. The most recent of her wants was an invalid chair, costing $225, which she wanted to send to her son. She has been to several banking houses with a subscripto several banking houses with a subscription list, asking contributions for the chair. For references she gives the names of previous generous donors, and shows letters purporting to come from the Rev. J. H. W. Harris, formerly an Episcopal clergyman in San Francisco. The Charity Organization people say that Harris is not a clergyman, but an actor who poses as a minister.

Mrs. Hunter has told the Charity agents that Harris is her brother, but they believe that he is her husband. The Charity Organization Society has The Charity Organization Society has received recently inquiries as to the character of Mrs. A. W. Hunter from several firms, including Speyer & Co., Funch, Edye & Co., Jacob H. Schiff and others, to whom she had applied for aid.

Mr. Mitchell, who is the "charity secretary," of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., sent a similar inquiry. Mrs. Hunter he said, had called at the banking house, asking for Mr. Kuhn. She saw Mitchell, and told him her story. Mitchell told her to call again yesterday. Central Office Detectives McEvoy, Platt

Central Office Detectives McEvoy, Plat and Barry were sent down, with special Agent J. Forbes of the society, and McEvoy gave Mitchell a marked one-dollar bill for Mrs. Hunter. When the woman called, Mitchell handed her the money, telling her to use it for carfare and to call again. As soon as she got to the street she was placed under arrest. She was arraigned in the Centre street police court, where she was held in $500 bail for examination.

Many letters and subscription lists were found in her possession. She also had a number of passes, for herself and daughter, on the New York Central railroad.

Among the subscription lists was one, with an introduction from Harris attached, which bore the signatures of A. A. Housman, Frederick Bull, E. L. Oppenheim, Shafer Bros., Mendham Bros., Lockwood, Hurd & Co.; L. Levy & Co., Stewart, Barr & Co.; Groesbeck & Co., Export Lumber Co., Lewisohn Bros., W. B. Cutting, Moore & Schley, C. Head & Co., George W. Stern and scores of others. and scores of others. From all sources it is supposed that she has collected about $100 a week.

NEW BEEF TRUST. Packers Forming a Company to Sell

Their Goods.

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.-Looking to the formation of a selling combine and the virtual consolidation of all the wholesale meat markets of the packing houses, representatives of the different concerns have been summoned to Chicago to agree on details of a merger. Tentative plans have been in hand for several weeks, and at least four of the big firms have agreed to enter the combination. J. Ogden Armour returned vesterday from Europe and immediately Armour & Co. and the Cudahy Packing Company ordered their Western managers to Chicago.

The selling combine is an economical move by the packers. It means the abolition of scores of branch houses of each firm and will result in a saving aggregating hundreds of thousands of dollars annually The selling firm, which will market all the products of every firm concerned in the merger, will be a corporation separate and distinct from the packing companies, although the packers will be its stock holders.

WHYINTERFERE?--J. P. MORGAN

HE KNOWS OF NO INTENTION TO ARBITRATE THE COAL STRIKE.

Suggests That Those Interested Be Left to Settle Their Own Disputes - No Present Plan to Meet Strike Leader Mitchell - The Operators Are More Hopeful.

While everything seemed to indicate resterday that J. Pierpont Morgan would ot interfere in the coal strike, Mr. Morgan nimself would make no direct statement on the subject. A delegation of reporters saw Mr. Morgan in his office late yesterday afternoon and called his attention to the reports that he might take some decisive stand in the matter of the strike. "What action can I take?" answered Mr

Morgan. "I am not the president of the oal railroads."

"There was an impression that when you came back, Mr. Morgan, an attempt would be made again to arbitrate the strike It was reported that Bishop Potter, as the representative of the Civic Federation. would make such an attempt on your reurn, and that President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers was coming here to see you. Will you see Mitchell?" "I know nothing of this," replied Mr.

Morgan. "I do not see why matters cannot be let alone. Why stir up things in this wav?" "The operators have put themselves on record by saying that you will not inter-fere in the strike in any way and that no other terms but an unconditional surrender are possible. "I have not said that I will not interfere. Neither have I said that I will," replied Mr. Morgan.

"Is there a likelihood that you will inter-ere in any way?"

"I have nothing to say now. This is not the proper time to talk on these subjects. The reporters know that if I have anything to say I say it when the time is appropriate. This is no time to make a statement. the proper time comes, I may have some-thing to say. If I have the reporters will et it. I have not said, however, that it ill be necessary to say anything " Mr. Morgan also said that he knew nothing of the report that he would hold a conference shortly with President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers.

Partners of Mr. Morgan said that no conference on the coal situation was held resterday and that no arrangements been made for a conference between Mr Morgan and anybody else regarding a eitlement of the strike. Henry S. Fleming, secretary of the Anthracite Coal Operators' Association, I Broadway, representing the independent operators, who has returned from a visit to the anthracite mining regions, said:

all the collieries and the mines are being operated in a small way. They are being prepared for the general break-up of the strike. Some of the strikers who have been afraid to go back are plucking up ourage and returning to work."

Mr. Fleming said that there was no possiof any one interfering in the strike. The independent operators were standing by the coal-carrying companies and all were a unit in this respect.

"What about Mr. Morgan?" he was asked.
"I don't believe even Mr. Morgan would be allowed to interfere now, even if he wanted to interfere, and I don't believe he

PRESIDENT IN NEW ENGLAND.

PRICE TWO CENTS.

HIS DAY ENDS WITH A NOTABLE SPEECH IN HARTFORD.

A Gift and an Address From Workingmen -His Response - A Drive and a Brief

Visit in New Haven-Address on the Nation's Work in the Island Colonies.

HARTFORD, Conn., Aug. 22 .- A ringing seech of satisfaction with the record of the United States in the management of its insular possessions ended the first day of President Roosevelt's New England tour. It was a speech full of profound appreciation for the work that has been done in Porto Rico so successfully that we never hear of Porto Rico any more. He told of the partial justice done to Cuba and his conviction that full justice-in the matter of a reciprocal tariff-would come before long. Then he took up the hard, thankless work which has been drawing to an end the founder of the present dynasty was a in the Philippines, explaining how American supervision and Filipino executive labor had been welded together with peace-> bringing results. The President's reception when he entered the Coliseum to deliver the speech was only less hearty than that accorded to him when he announced his opinion of the progress of our insular government and the programme to be carried on with the best efforts of his Administration. The speech on the insular possessions was prefaced by a few remarks which excited the Hartford audience a great deal. Jacob L. Greene, chairman of the Hartford Reception Committee, had not, in the opinion of some Hartford folks, given a sufficient part in the day's programme to Mayor Sullivan. Mr. Sullivan is one of the "new era" Mayors of Connecticut. He was a clothing salesman before he was Mayor. He was elected on an independent fusion sort of ticket, and Hartford, as a whole, likes him. Hartford is a manufacturing town and a great part of its population works with its hands.

A SPEECH TO WORKINGMEN.

At Pope Park, in the afternoon, a floral horseshoe was presented to the President as the gift of the workingmen of Hartford. The President said to Father Sullivan, who made the speech of presentation: Father Sullivan: I am here to say some words this evening myself, but nothing that I can say will in any way have the significance that the gift from the wage workers of Hartford has, and the language that you have used mas, cather Sullivier, in connection with making it. I am sure that Col. Greene Senator Platt himself and all of my other hosts will pardon me for saying that no greeting that I have received or can receive in Connecticut will or can begin to please me as much as this greeting that I receive through you.

connecticat will of can be such to peace the as much as this greeting that I receive through you.

Father Sollivan, I should, of course, be wholly unfit for the position I occupy if I did not give my best thought and best purpose to trying to serve the interests of the tolier of America, the man who works with his head—and the man who works with his head—if I did not try to serve each decent American citizen according to the best of my capacity; and, certainly, my most painstaking effort, my most resolute purpose, shall be given, and, if I may say so, is being given to trying to do anything that can be done to help our people. And perhaps I can help them best by trying to represent as well as I can their best purpose and their best foundat, and that kind of representative I shall strive to be, according to the light that is given me.

One tains more. I should like to accept that gift as in some way personal to myself; but I would rather accept it, Father Sullivan, as I know it is meant—as a gift from Americans to the man who for the time being embedded. cans to the man who for the time being em-bodies. American governmental principles, the principles of square and fair dealing with all men, so that all men shall have their rights under the law, that all shall be given a fair and even chance in the structure for the iggle for life as e can best give it. I thank you. When the President in his speech to night mentioned the name of Senator Platt there was a good deal of cheering. When he mentioned that of Mayor Sullivan the crowd sent up a shout Mayor Sullivan the crowd sent up a shout only rivalling that which had greeted the President himself. The President was not permitted to continue until Mr. Sullivan got up and bowed. Then somebody wanted three cheers for the President, and they were suppressed with difficulty. Mr. Greene did not look comfortable the while.

The President in his main speech added

The President in his main speech added a parenthetic remark to his explanation of the sort of a man he was looking for as a candidate for the Panama Canal Commission. He said:

"In short, what we went is a $50,000 man for $10,000."

HARTFORD'S WELCOME. The President arrived in Hartford at 4:20 o'clock this afternoon. He found the streets patrolled by militiamen and a purple-lined automobile waiting for him at the station steps. There were some twenty carriages behind the automobile. At an easy pace the procession passed around the In Pope Park a voluntary posse of 800 workingmen patrolled the shrubbery along workingmen patrolled the shrubbery along the roadways to guard against the possibility of any untoward mishap while the President was their guest.

The President was entertained in Hartford at the home of John P. Robinson, secretary to the Governor and son of Connecticut's most distinguished jurist in the last generation. Mr. Roosevelt no sconer reached Mr. Robinson's home than he sent word to Mayor Suilivan that he was requested to come to Mr. Robinson's home and have a chart with the President after the ceremonies at the Coliseum were over. Hartford went to bed feeling that its non-partisan reception to the President was non-partisan in more than name.
